Proposals may be submitted by a single company or jointly by two or more companies (“Joint Proposal”). In the case of a Joint Proposal, together companies must comply with the RFP requirements. Each company involved in a Joint Proposal will be considered jointly and severally liable for all payment obligations arising from their Proposal. The Joint Proposal shall identify a lead party and submit a private agreement or note describing the duties of each party (e.g., scheduling, payments, deliveries, leadership, guarantees, etc.) and confirm joint and several liability.

3. RFP Terms

For clarity, receipt of a Proposal for evaluation does not constitute pre-qualification, selection, or award.

CFE International reserves the obligation to enter into a definitive agreement in the form of a Transaction Confirmation under an active NAESB Agreement, until it verifies or has full certainty of the execution of said agreement is in the best interest of CFE International. 6. Request for Proposals Selection Process

CFE International will evaluate Proposals using a Best Value Analysis. The evaluation analysis will be determined and conducted by CFE International and will not be disclosed. The evaluation factors are as follows:

- The cost of natural gas to be purchased by CFE International (with lower cost preferred), including consideration of unit pricing per Block and any applicable package pricing.
- The suitability of the Delivery Points in relation to CFE International’s operational needs.

- (iii) Additional commercial conditions, such as Monthly Nomination and Daily Call Quantity and Extended Term.
- (iv) Any other elements that CFE International deems relevant to the evaluation of Proposals.

Based on this analysis, CFE International may select individual Blocks, packages of Blocks, or any combination thereof, as determined to represent the best overall value. CFE International reserves the right to select a Proposal partially, reject any or all Proposals, make no award, or negotiate final terms with selected Participants. Any selection is subject to the execution and delivery of definitive agreement.

CFE International may engage in discussions with Participants to clarify their Proposals. Following the initial evaluation, certain competitive Participants may be invited to submit updated Proposals. Updated Proposals must be submitted by the deadline specified by CFE International via the authorized email address and shall constitute binding offers, subject to acceptance by CFE International.

Updated Proposals will be evaluated using the same Best Value Analysis. If CFE International is unable to reach an agreement with a selected Participant, it may request refreshed pricing and terms from one or more Participants or proceed to next-ranked Participant(s) or cancel the process in whole or in part.
